LETTER FROM AMBASSADOR KATTOUF

The importance of building cross-cultural understanding has never been more crucial than right now. Because the challenges we face are global in nature, the best solutions will be found through the peaceful exchange of ideas and perspectives across cultures. These discussions are more likely to succeed with a citizenry possessing intercultural competencies. These competencies include the ability to communicate in multiple languages, and understanding the cultural diversity of populations around the world. To achieve these goals, we must focus on educating and preparing our students to participate effectively in cross-cultural dialogues.

With this in mind, Amideast is dedicated to providing academically rigorous and culturally authentic education abroad programs in the Middle East and North Africa region. These programs provide the opportunity for American students to forge genuine connections and learn about the peoples and cultures of the Middle East and North Africa. Our programs are designed to encourage respectful engagement, academic curiosity, and the development of intercultural skills.

Established in 1951 to improve mutual understanding between Americans and peoples of the Middle East and North Africa, Amideast has a long tradition of collaborating with partners in the region. Through these relationships, we have established networks which provide opportunities for authentic engagement with locals. From providing partners that allow students to practice their linguistic skills through exchange, to nurturing long-standing connections with local organizations that provide service learning opportunities, we strive to create programs that provide mutual benefits for our students and the people of the host culture.

We are proud that upon program completion, many Amideast alumni find ways to utilize their intercultural skills and passion for the region by pursuing work in government agencies, international NGOs, and other institutions dedicated to the mission of engagement with other nations. At Amideast, we are committed to our work promoting intercultural exchange through educational experiences that will equip our students with the tools necessary to become future global leaders.

Theodore H. Kattouf
President and CEO of Amideast

AMIDEAST'S ROOTS IN THE REGION

Established in 1951, America-Mideast Educational and Training Services, Inc. (Amideast) is a private American nonprofit organization engaged in international education, training, and development assistance work. Today Amideast programs and services touch the lives of half a million individuals throughout the MENA region each year and include improving educational opportunities and quality, strengthening local institutions, and developing language and professional skills critical for success in the global economy.

THE AMIDEAST ADVANTAGE

Amideast's longstanding presence in the Middle East and North Africa means that participants benefit from the organization's extensive engagement in the intersectional work framing the Sustainable Development Goals, its strong regional connections, and its belonging in host communities. Amideast Education Abroad Programs offer participants wide-ranging opportunities and support for intercultural encounters on study abroad experiences in MENA region countries.

WHO WE ARE

Our programs are participant centered and support participants' incredible diversity of learning and growth goals. They are intended to develop knowledge of the host country and the MENA region, and designed to maximize exposure to the host culture. We are dedicated to humility and decoloniality as the foundations of the life-long work of intercultural learning. Our programs benefit from strong partnerships with U.S. colleges, universities, secondary schools, and other crucial institutional and organizational partners both across the MENA region and in the U.S.

Participants have opportunities to interact widely in our diverse host communities, including with local university faculty members and other professionals, youth, host families, leaders of local organizations, artists, activists, and so many others. Every component of Amideast programs is carefully designed to work in tandem with one another and to intentionally, purposefully engage participants and host communities in issues, events, and contexts relevant to contemporary everyday life.

PROGRAM COMPONENTS

While each program has its own style, influenced by the unique characteristics of the host country and city, all Amideast programs include the following distinctive features.

GRADE REPORTS & SCHOOL OF RECORD

SYLLABI

Syllabi are created for each course by Area Studies and Arabic Language faculty members prior to the start of the term. Each syllabus is thoroughly reviewed by the Academic Coordinator and Amideast Education Abroad staff in Washington, D.C. for consistency and content. In order to facilitate the approval of credit for courses, all syllabi are available online.

GRADE REPORTS & TRANSCRIPTS

After a student completes an Amideast Education Abroad program, Amideast issues an official grade report that documents letter grades and credit received. This grade report is sent to the student's home institution 4–8 weeks after the end of the program. Alternatively, students can request a transcript issued by Amideast's School of Record (SOR) for an additional fee. Students who have indicated this option will receive their transcript from the SOR approximately 8–10 weeks after the end of the program.

My experience abroad was extremely worthwhile. It opened my eyes to so much culture, history, and I was able to see many beautiful places while having meaningful interactions with locals.

– Morocco Summer Alum

ACADEMIC CONSORTIUM

Amideast's Education Abroad Programs benefit from the advice and quality assurance of an Academic Consortium, a group of institutions that represent a cross-section of U.S. higher education. The following institutions are members of the Amideast Academic Consortium:

American University

Bard College

Creighton University

Dickinson College

Drexel University

Grinnell College

Kenyon College

Knox College

Lawrence University

COURSES & SYLLABI

For our semester programs, we offer several area studies courses to choose from. Prior to the start of the semester abroad, Amideast Education Abroad will notify students as to which courses will be available that term.

To review the syllabi for all of our semester and summer courses, please visit our blog site:

www.amideastedabroad.org/syllabi.

INTERCULTURAL LEARNING

Amideast Education Abroad Programs include opportunities for students to develop their intercultural humility. Students are encouraged to use language, non-verbal cues, communication, perceptual styles, and cultural assumptions and values as key windows to understand cultural difference.

SOME KEY COMPONENTS OF AMIDEAST'S APPROACH TO INTERCULTURAL LEARNING INCLUDE:

LANGUAGE PARTNERS

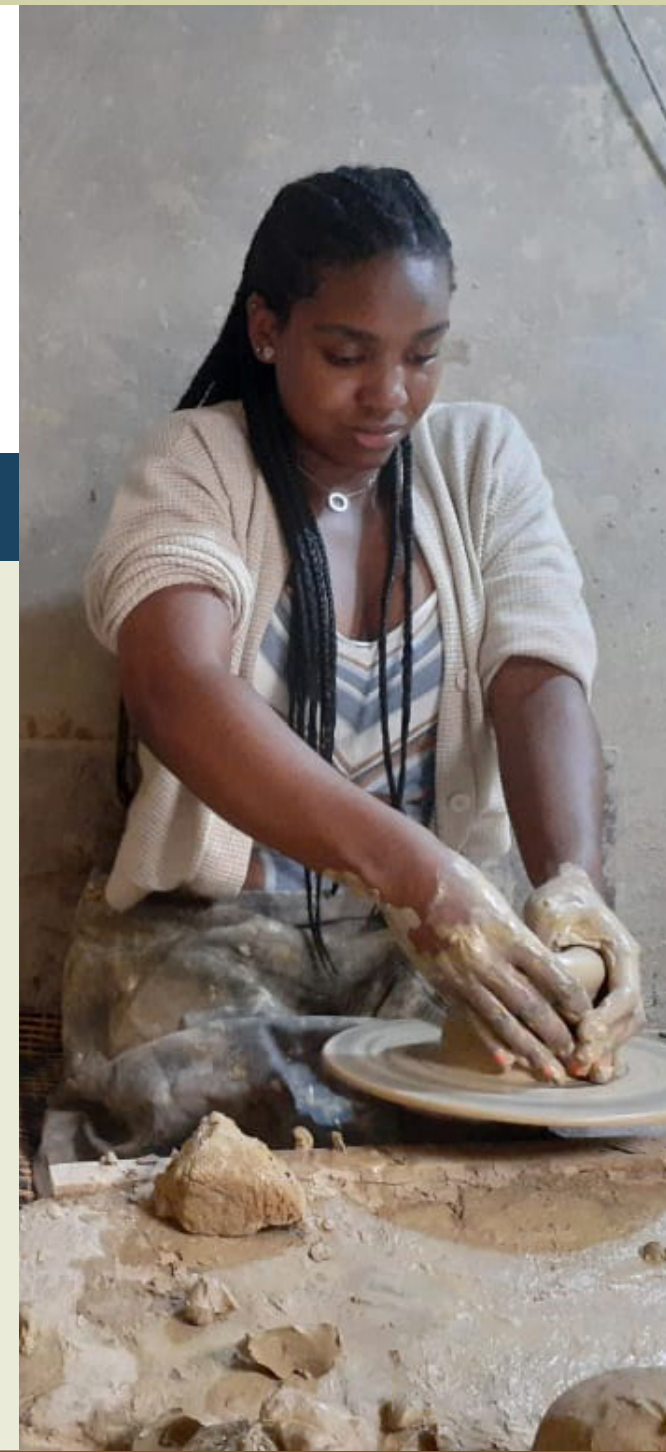

In each host country, Amideast field staff recruits local students, young professionals, and participants in Amideast English language courses to act as language partners for Education Abroad students. Education Abroad students work with host country peers to practice language and foster cultural exchange.

CULTURAL EXCHANGE & CO-CURRICULAR ACTIVITIES

During semester programs, Education Abroad students participate in structured exchange and a range of activities. These opportunities create space for guided, meaningful discussion, interaction, and problem-solving with host country peers.

REFLECTION RETREAT

All Amideast Education Abroad semester/academic year programs include a mandatory "Reflection Retreat" at the end of the term. Summer students will participate in a mandatory "Reflection Day" at the end of their program. Students often feel excitement and anxiety about returning home. Reflection has been designed to create time and space for students to consider their experience as they depart their host country.

الأردن

مرحباً!

WELCOME!

Amman, the capital of Jordan, has expanded from a quaint sleepy town to the bustling, multicultural metropolis it is today. As Jordan is deeply enmeshed in the international relations of the region, students may find no better place to study pressing Middle Eastern issues and Levantine Arabic.

AREA & ARABIC LANGUAGE STUDIES

ACADEMIC OVERVIEW

- Arabic: Blended Modern Standard & Colloquial Jordanian (8 credits) is recommended
- Colloquial Jordanian Arabic (3 credits) is required if not in the 8-credit course
- Elective Area Studies courses (3 credits each) taught in English in a variety of disciplines. Recent courses have been drawn from art, history, political science, religion, and women's studies.
- Media Arabic (3 credits) is also available as an elective

COMMUNITY-BASED LEARNING

This interdisciplinary course aims at strengthening and deepening students' knowledge of the Middle East through direct experience in local organizations and a series of lectures aimed at providing the theoretical framework for studying and interacting with Jordanian society, culture, and politics.

Students will have a volunteer placement in a local organization where they are expected to spend at least five hours a week. There are also lectures/seminars to contextualize the placement, providing the opportunity to directly observe and analyze different aspects of Jordanian culture, social relations, and politics under the framework provided by the class readings and discussions.

مرحباً! كيفكم؟

HELLO! HOW ARE YOU?

Intensive coursework combined with daily interactions with host families help students at all levels increase their Arabic proficiency within a short period. The Intensive Arabic Program is offered in two 4-week sessions, so students can choose to spend one or two months living and studying in Amman.

“ I gained real use of the language and found myself able to communicate with locals on the street better than I could have ever imagined prior. I was so happy to finally be able to use Arabic!

CONFLICT & THE STRUGGLE FOR PEACE: EXPLORATIONS IN IRELAND & THE MIDDLE EAST

LEARN IN DUBLIN AND AMMAN!

While exploring the process of peace and conflict resolution and the sensitive cultural and societal roots of conflict, students spend a total of five weeks of the summer in Dublin and Amman. Organized by the Foundation for International Education (FIE) in cooperation with Amideast, students are exposed to the theory and practice of peace keeping, peace-making, peace building, and conflict resolution in Europe and the Middle East. See the FIE program website for course description and application information:

<https://www.fie.org.uk/peace-conflict-program>

ACADEMIC OVERVIEW

- A study tour to Derry, Northern Ireland to contextualize theory on peace and conflict resolution
- Students examine the Arab/Israeli conflict and various regional and local conflicts, all of which are addressed in a Middle East cultural context
- Students have the option to extend the experience in Jordan by participating in a 4-week Intensive Arabic Summer Session with Amideast

EXCURSIONS IN JORDAN

Experiencing life outside the host city is an integral part of Amideast Education Abroad programs. Semester programs travel on three major organized excursions and summer programs travel on one to two excursions. Included in the program fees, excursions provide students a way to experience their host country firsthand, taking them places they might not otherwise be able to access.

Previous excursions in Jordan have included Jerash, the Dead Sea, Wadi Rum, and Petra (pictured).

I learned a great deal of cultural understanding & flexibility. My preconceived notions about the Arab world were challenged and my sense of identity was further shaped.
- Morocco Program Alum

I learned a lot about myself. My program was definitely more challenging than a lot of my friends who studied in Europe, but I also feel that I got a lot more out of my experience.
- Morocco Program Alum

A new culture, new mindset, and unique sides of learning a new language. It was incredibly worthwhile.
- Jordan Program Alum

This program, as well as the host country, can be a life-changing experience. I would highly recommend it for people interested in the region, people, and language.
- Jordan Program Alum

Amideast has been doing this for a very long time, so they know how to handle things thrown their way.
- Morocco Program Alum

I gained a huge appreciation for the Jordanian culture, as well as the complexities of the regional context.
- Jordan Program Alum

Incredibly worthwhile — great introduction to Arabic and an even better exposure to the diversity of the North African region.

HEALTH & SAFETY

Amideast provides the support necessary for students to have a safe and healthy education abroad experience. The health, safety, and security of students, faculty, and staff are collectively the number one priority on Amideast Education Abroad programs.

Amideast really made my safety and learning a priority. I felt taken care of the entire time and knew if I had a concern they would be there.

– Morocco Program Alum

PRESENCE IN THE REGION

Amideast was established in 1951 to build human connections between Americans and the diverse peoples of the Middle East and North Africa. This longstanding physical presence in the region has enabled Amideast to develop an extensive network of contacts with local educational and other institutions, organizations, government offices, and civil society.

INSURANCE

As part of the program fee, Amideast provides medical insurance for all students. In addition to medical insurance, Amideast purchases high-quality security evacuation coverage for program participants.

STUDENT HEALTH

All students should submit a detailed medical profile on the Student Portal prior to departure, and Amideast staff works with students to make accommodations for any health or dietary needs. Once in country, program staff helps students deal with health issues as they arise. Staff recommends providers and hospitals both in the host city and in areas visited on excursions.

RISK MANAGEMENT

In addition to Amideast's longstanding physical presence and strong relationships with local institutions, risk is managed in the following ways:

- Amideast's Country Directors maintain close ties to the Regional Security Officers at U.S. Embassies.
- Local program staff members are included in the U.S. Embassy warden network.
- Amideast is a member of the U.S. Department of State's Overseas Security Advisory Council.
- Amideast contracts with World Aware: Intelligent Risk Systems to provide students direct access to up-to-the-minute information regarding security.
- Field office staff maintains a vital local network and contributes to the understanding of ongoing and developing situations on the ground.
- Key staff members in the field and in Washington, D.C. are available 24/7 to respond to emergency situations.
- Amideast study centers are accessible only through controlled entrances. Local staff is able to send out text messages (SMS) simultaneously to all students' program-provided mobile phones to update them instantly as issues related to health, safety, and security develop.

STUDENT SUPPORT

PRE-DEPARTURE INFORMATION

Includes:

- Information on academics, visas & insurance
- Information on issues of safety & security

ACCOMMODATIONS

Participants seeking a wide range of accommodations study with us successfully all the time.

Our onsite and virtual programs work to be inclusive so participants of all identities can participate fully, successfully and rewardingly.

Support for doing so may include, but is not limited to, any of these accommodations:

- ◆ Extra time to sit for an exam
- ◆ Accessible course materials (e.g., compatible with screen readers or large print documents)
- ◆ Flexibility of assignment due dates
- ◆ Arrangements to allow for the celebration of religious holidays
- ◆ Housing in apartments to allow for the accompaniment of dependents or caregivers
- ◆ Logistical arrangements for service animals
- ◆ Assist with arrangements for routine or ongoing medical care
- ◆ Coordinate arrangements to assist with mobility-related needs

If you think you may need any accommodations to facilitate your virtual or in-country study abroad experience, please email us to start that conversation.

IF YOU BELIEVE THAT YOU WOULD NEED ANY TYPE OF ACCOMMODATION, PLEASE EMAIL EDABROAD@AMIDEAST.ORG TO BEGIN A CONVERSATION.

HOUSING

Living with a host family is the best experience you can have and it was so beneficial to me.

- Morocco Program Alum

Host families are wonderful & are very generous to welcome American students into their homes.

- Jordan Program Alum

[My host family] made me feel like I was truly part of the family and they exposed me to a lot of interesting & unique aspects of Moroccan culture.

- Morocco Program Alum

I loved my host family — they allowed me to get an inside glimpse of family life in Jordan & were so welcoming and helpful in guiding me along my semester.

- Jordan Program Alum

Depending on which program you choose, you may live with a host family or in a private student dormitory (AUD only). Homestays provide students with a window into local culture; this unique experience will give you a window into the important role family plays in Arab society as well as how local community affects family life.

Once accepted to the program, you will be asked to provide Amideast with information about your preferences that will help us pair you with a roommate for your host family. Please note that all students are required to live in Amideast-provided housing.

STAFF

Amideast Education Abroad staff members possess a wealth of knowledge about the Middle East and North Africa region. They have served as Peace Corps volunteers, Fulbright Fellows, founders of non-profit organizations, teachers, researchers, and program administrators. While our staff members come from diverse cultures and backgrounds, they share a common passion for the peoples and cultures of the Middle East and North Africa.

Amideast Education Abroad Programs in the MENA are administered by a collaborative team of Field Office and Washington, D.C. Headquarters staff and faculty. This team of education abroad professionals and academics supports Amideast students with their health and safety, academics, language acquisition, intercultural development, cultural adjustment, and logistics.

STAFF & FACULTY

FACULTY

Local faculty members develop quality Arabic and Area Studies courses for each Education Abroad Program. In collaboration with Academic and Arabic Coordinators, faculty offer content specialized for the Amideast program. As scholars, professionals, or policy makers with extensive experience in the region, Amideast faculty members teach courses based on firsthand experience.

TUITION & FEES

Tuition and fees vary among programs.

Visit our website for the most up-to-date information on program fees.

TUITION AND FEES INCLUDE:

- All courses and access to Amideast Online
- Pre-departure and on-site orientations
 - Housing
 - Program-organized excursions
 - Cultural and co-curricular activities
- Supplementary lectures and special events
- Medical insurance, including medical evacuation & repatriation and security evacuation coverage
- Host country phone and SIM card
- Amideast grade report

Students are encouraged to apply for Amideast scholarships and consider using federal, state, and other institutional aid to reduce the costs of study abroad.

Contact your study abroad and/or financial aid office to discover how aid may be applied to for your program. You can generally use your Federal Financial Aid to pay for your education abroad program if you are enrolled full time at an institution of higher education.

MULTIPLE PROGRAM DISCOUNT

Students who participate in multiple Amideast programs will receive a discount on the second program. Please email us for discount information during the following terms:

- Academic Year
- Two Summer Intensive Arabic Sessions
- Successive Terms

SCHOLARSHIPS

Amideast Education Abroad Programs in the MENA is committed to providing financial assistance to students with demonstrated financial need. Amideast currently awards two types of scholarships.

NEED-BASED SCHOLARSHIPS

These are made in the form of a program tuition reduction and normally range between $500 and $5,000. Scholarships are awarded based on demonstration of financial need such as financial aid information provided from the home institution and an essay from the applicant.

BLOG ABROAD SCHOLARSHIPS

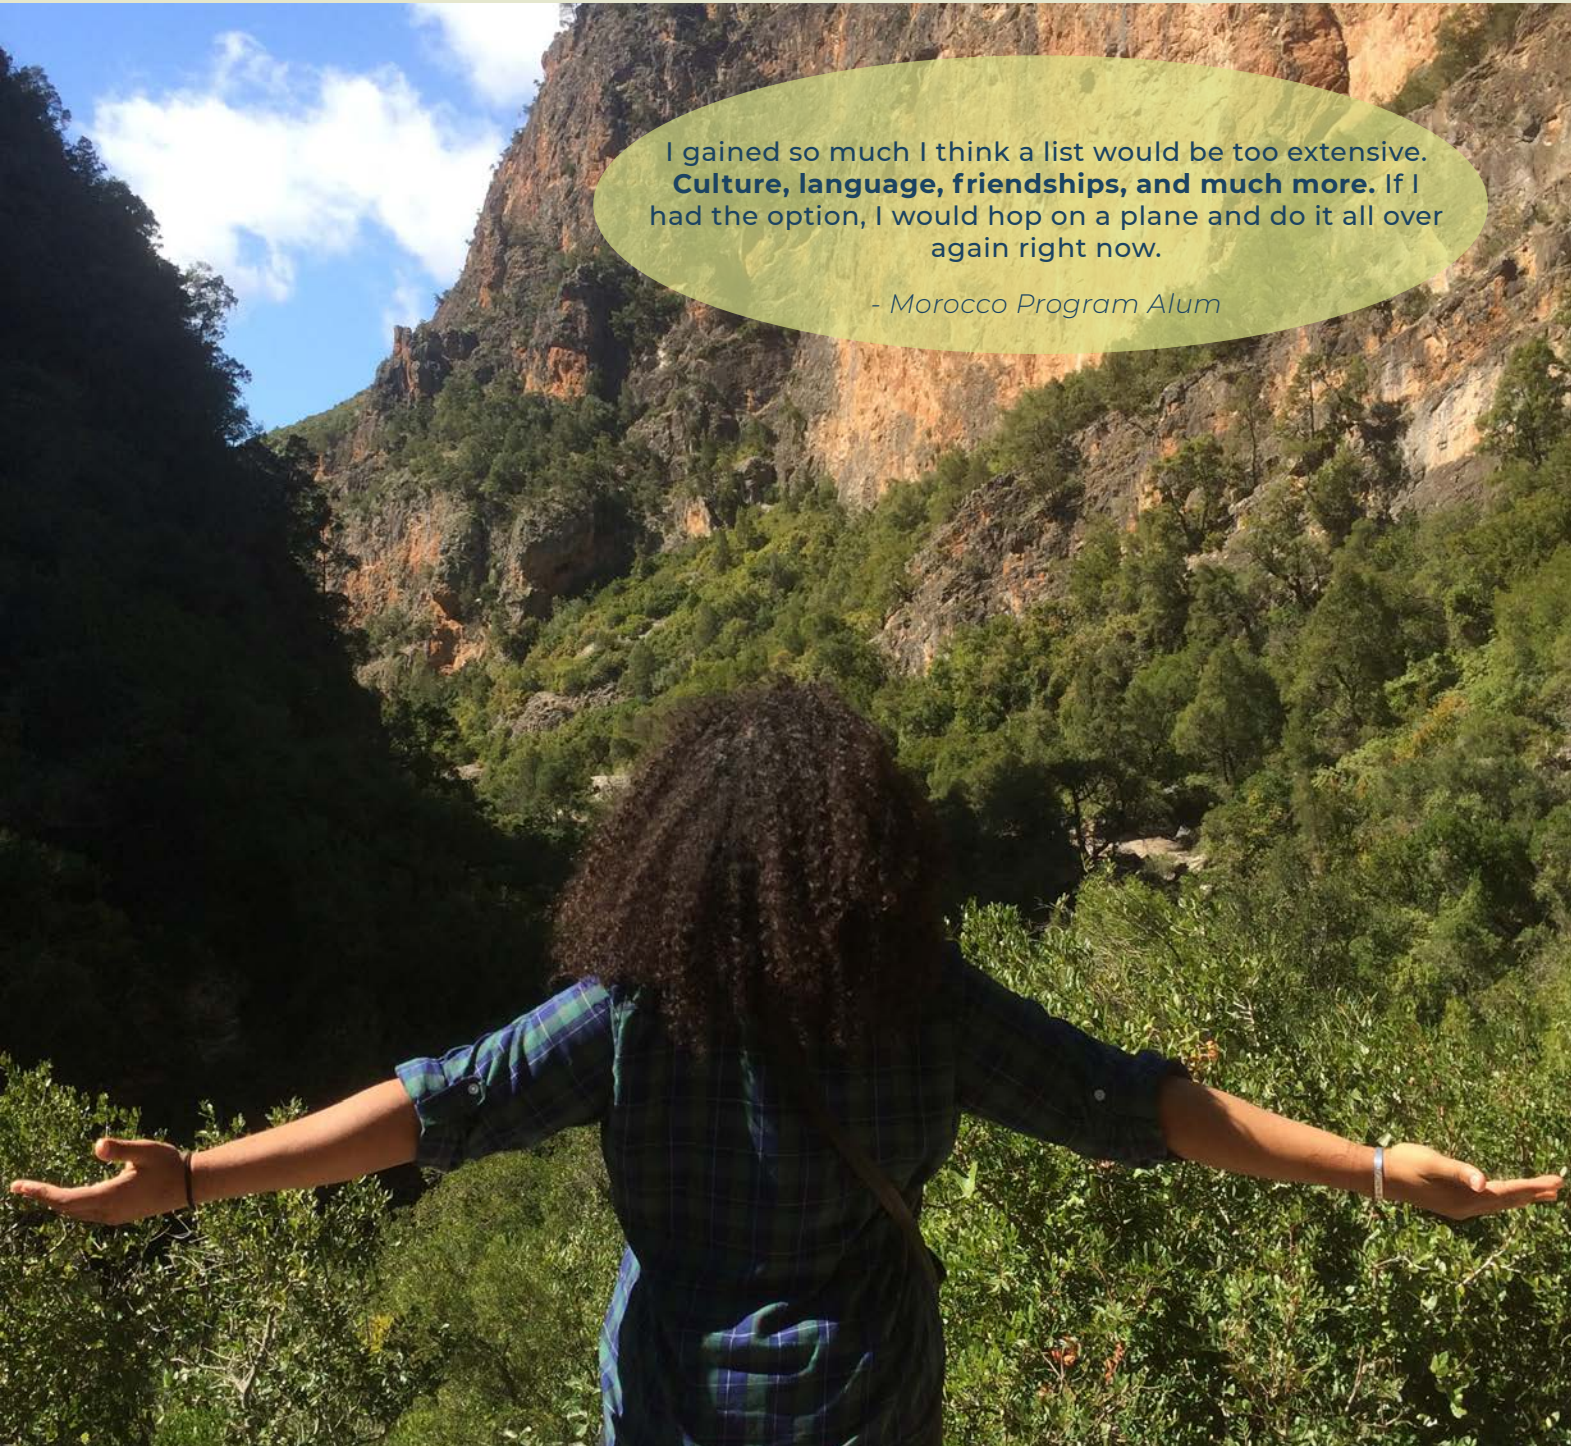

These are awarded to students on any Amideast semester or summer program. Each student selected participates as a correspondent from their host country. Semester students will receive $1,000 and summer students will receive $500 toward their Amideast program in the form of a tuition reduction.

For study abroad in:	Scholarship and program applications are due:
Summer	March 15
Fall/Academic Year	April 15
Spring	October 15

ELIGIBILITY

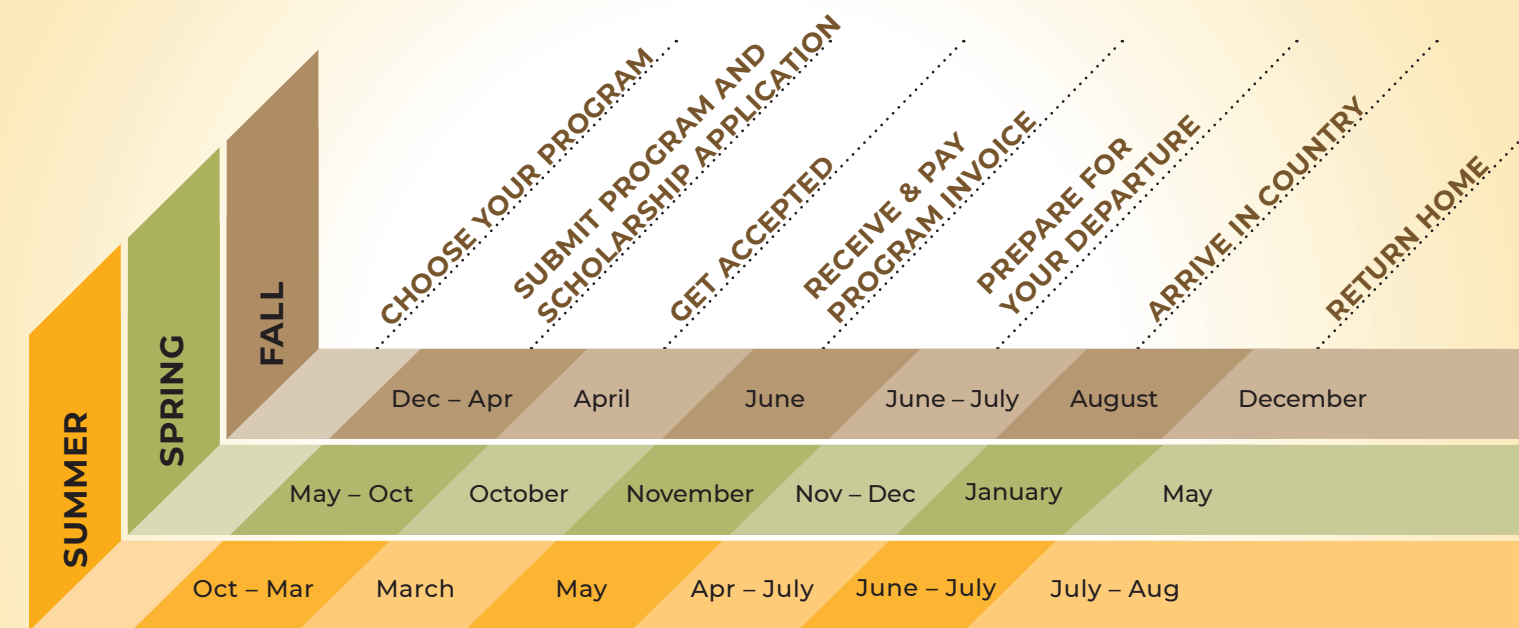

Funding is available only to U.S. citizens on Amideast Education Abroad Programs. Awards will be made only to students who submit a completed scholarship application and a complete program application by the established deadlines.

I gained so much I think a list would be too extensive. Culture, language, friendships, and much more. If I had the option, I would hop on a plane and do it all over again right now.
